FAST FACTS

WHAT IS 4CABA?

The Four Corners Association for Behavior Analysis is an independent, non-profit, professional organization affiliated with the Association for Behavior Analysis, an international organization dedicated to promoting the experimental, theoretical, and applied analyses of behavior. Our members reside, teach, conduct research and practice primarily in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah.

WHAT IS OUR MISSION?

Four Corners ABA's mission is to promote the science of behavior and evidence-based technologies derived from the basic science in the Four Corners region.

WHAT ARE OUR OBJECTIVES?

- (1) Serve as a scientific and professional reference group
- (2) Promote basic and applied research
- (3) Identify and promote the use of effective treatment procedures
- (4) Organize and sponsor an annual conference
- (5) Promote the development and expansion of education, training, and employment in the field of behavior analysis
- (6) Support efforts of allied organizations in providing evidence-based behavior analytic services

Highlights from the 2012 4caba conference

We had a fantastic group of presenters, and an incredible time in Winter Park on April 1st and 2nd. Four corners ABA has always strived to provide a balance in presenters splitting topics half basic/theoretical and half applied. We also enjoy bringing in an exceptional presenter from outside the field of Behavior Analysis who presents on research related to the study of human behavior. This year we had the opportunity to hear from Dr. Michael McBeath (Arizona State University) discuss cutting edge research on depth perception and navigational behavior. We also had the opportunity to hear from these amazing presenters: Dr. Patrick C. Friman, Dr. Merrill Winston, Dr. Eduardo J. Fernandez, Dr. Tim Hackenberg, Dr. Philip Himeline, Dr. Claudia Dozier, Dr. Einar Ingvarsson, and Dr. Pamela Neidert. We also had our annual student poster competition. Judges this year were Dr. Einar Ingvarsson, and Dr. Patricia Oliver. It was a close competition this year but the winner selected was Tiffany Doherty with her (and coauthors Steven R. Boomhower and Erin B. Rasmussen) poster entitled DIFFERENCES IN LEAN AND OBESE ZUCKER RATS IN DELAY DISCOUNTING. Congratulations to Tiffany and crew for their exemplary poster. Tiffany received a free membership to 4caba for 2013.

Executive News:

By Dr. Michelle Bishop

At the 2012 business meeting the election procedures were modified. A call for nominations will occur prior to the annual conference. The names of nominated individuals, who are interested in serving in the respective positions, will be included on an election ballot. The election ballot will be distributed at the beginning of the annual conference. Voting members who will not be at the annual conference will have an opportunity to vote using an absentee ballot, which is due before the annual conference. All ballots will be counted at the business meeting and the individual with the most votes will serve in the position. The newly elected officers will now be announced on the second day of the conference.
